

Season 4 Episode 15

Stranger than Reality

Annie and Jake are in their residence in the middle of the day while they look over some new invention that Annie just built. It is a large rectangular prism with complex insides and it is made out of shiny metal parts used from various things people threw out all over crazy town. Annie said, "This new invention will be enough to power our computers and our gadgets when the mayor shuts the power down to crazy town." Jake said, "Yeah. That's how we will defeat this mayor. We'll be one step ahead of him." The wall in their residence explodes and there is a giant killer robot with red beady little eyes and it targets Annie and Jake. It said, "Targeting frequency activated." Jake said, "What the hell is that?" Annie said, "Whatever it is, it looks like it wants us dead." The robot begins destroying Annie and Jake's home and it chases them down the street.

There happens to be a parade where all kinds of costume freaks are walking down the roads of the crazy town. Annie and Jake run through the crowds and they keep getting bumped around which allows the robot to get closer to them. Annie and Jake escape the crowds and they end up in the park. Isaac and Wayon are there and they watch Annie and Jake get chased by the giant robot. Isaac said, "Way hey hey. It looks like someone is after Annie and Jake again. Why am I not surprised?" Wayon said, "They are on the set and they are some target."

Annie and Jake run through the crazy town park where crazy people walk around and bang their heads with their hands, metal pots, and even, mailboxes. Annie and Jake run into Lily and she stops Jake. Lily said, "Jake, come here and help me." She points to a tree and it has her pink Larryette doll stuck in it. Lily said, "My Larryette doll got stuck in the tree." Jake said, "I would like to help you but we are kind of busy right now being chased by a giant killer robot." Jake points to the robot and he runs away with Annie while Lily stays in place. The robot ends up breaking the tree which brings the Larryette doll back to Lily and the robot completely ignores her.

Annie and Jake run into a back alleyway and the robot is still trying to grab them. He is forcing himself into the alley which is too narrow for him but he is forcing himself anyways and the walls are slowly breaking. Annie spots a basement window. Annie said, "Let's get in here." She uses a pocket gadget to open the window and they jump in. They find themselves in some kind of dirty gritty lab where there are experiments everywhere. There is a beaker with different chemical formulas flowing in to it. They see a rat in a cage that spots Annie and Jake. The rat takes out a marker and a piece of paper and he writes, "Despite all my rage" on the paper. Jake said, "What is this lab?" Annie said, "Who's running these experiments?" They hear a voice say, "That would be me." They turn around and they see a fat guy that looks like a clown in a woman's dress. He has large hairy legs and he is in the process of shaving them using shaving cream." The clown has thick lips that are painted with cherry red lipstick. He said, "You must be Annie and Jake. You are just the ones I want." Annie said, "What's this about?" Jake said, "Yeah. How do you know who we are?" The clown guy said, "Let's just say, you guys are kind of celebrities around here. I know about your defiant ways against the mayor and this town. That's why I want to use you for my experiments." Annie said, "What kind of experiments?" Jake said, "I don't think any of this is a good idea."

The clown grabs Annie and Jake and he connects their brains to some machine that uses heavy metal half spheres to connect to their heads and it reads their brainwaves. It manipulates Annie and Jake's physiology and it causes them to turn into scaly green lizard like creatures. Annie and Jake look at each other and they say, "Eek! What just happened?" The clown unzips his costume and he reveals he is really the mayor. The mayor said, "I see you guys like the new present I just gave you. Now you are going to get killed by a giant killer robot and the feds will think it was just a robot trying to stop an invasion of evil green lizard men. They will have no idea you were really Annie and Jake." The robot breaks the ceiling off the lab and it is about to pound on Annie and Jake. Just then, the robot falls into pieces and Lily is behind it with the Larryette doll. Lily said, "Hi, Jake. This Larryette doll really is a Swiss Army Knife."

Meanwhile, somewhere not too close by but not too far away, some thirty something year old lady with short round brown hair and glasses with a round head and dresses in a knitted sweater with a white shirt is presenting this story to a group of administrators at a writing firm. The lead administrator said, "Tabitha, let me ask you one question. Why do all of your stories involve confusing and wrong crap?" Tabitha said, "Well, Odyssey of Oddities is written to be like real life and real life is filled with confusing and wrong things." The lead administrator said, "You've been writing these Odyssey of Oddities stories for years now and pretty much none of them have ever made any sense whatsoever." The lead admin goes through some documents and she said, "There was one story you wrote where everyone in crazy town suddenly disappeared and it was all the work of this one guy named the Virtualizer that wanted to place everyone into eternal virtual reality." Tabitha said, "Well, uh... virtual reality is often better than actual reality. I guess he knew that way too well." The lead admin continues, "You had another story where everyone got sick and died and it was all because they were animatronic wax duplicates of their real selves." Tabitha said, "Sometimes... I wonder if we are actually ourselves. Maybe we are really just copies of ourselves that forgot we were copies." The admin continues again, "You made a story where they unknowingly ended up in a World War II movie, they ended up in a reality that is blatantly set in the same universe as the Sampsons. You even had Annie and Jake dress as two of the main characters from that show. Are you aware that the Sampsons is a copyrighted show? The last thing we need is a lawsuit from the 21st Century Rox Corporation." Tabitha said, "Well, that show is quite famous and making a storyline that ties in with it would help build intrigue to our viewers. It didn't explicitly mention anything from the show either." The lead admin continues, "More recently, you wrote a story where Annie and Jake were forced to clean up a grocery store that was condemned as a biohazard. You also wrote an episode that involved Annie and Jake being used for a scam that was the work of a self-entitled 11 year-old girl. What kind of dumb messed up logic is this?" Tabitha said, "Well, this series is supposed to be messed up." The admin said, "Yeah but not messed up in the way your stories have been. All the stories you've made were just a bunch of crap that doesn't make sense. I have been overly lenient with you for the past decade and, you've been paid more than a lot of other people that have had this same job as you. I don't know why I continue to give you this kind of slack. I am giving you one last chance. If you blow this one, you're fired and I will make sure you never get a writing job again."

Tabitha returns to her dirty run down apartment that has an old TV she turns on and watches while she works. She gets out her typewriter and she thinks for a bit and she goes and bangs away at the old fashioned keyboard.

Annie and Jake are walking around the streets of crazy town at the height of day and they see everyone is wearing button pins that are of a purple and pink striped tall hat with a round wide brim. Jake said, "What are all those pins?" Annie said, "Beats me." Annie and Jake see TV with one of the pins and he is also wearing a purple and pink striped hat. He has his signature portable TV and he is staring at the endless abyss of static. Annie said, "Hey, TV. What are those pins people are wearing?" TV looks scared and said, "It is the work of the Pininator. He claims he does a lot for us by keeping us safe from dangers. He is forcing everyone to honor him by wearing flair. You better wear some flair. You don't want to upset him." Annie said, "Where do we find this, flair?" TV shrugs his shoulders. Jake sees he is watching TV that is nothing but static. Jake said, "Why are you watching static on your TV? Can't get reception around here?" TV said, "We must only do things the Pininator approves of. If you watch a show he doesn't like, he will find you and do god knows what." Annie and Jake give stern expressions.

Annie and Jake go to the job center where they get their daily jobs and they see everyone is decked with those pins and some have the hats on too. Jake said, "People are taking this flair stuff pretty seriously." Annie and Jake go to get their daily job and there is a lady there that is issuing the jobs to everyone. She sees Annie and Jake are not wearing flair and she said, "I cannot give you a job." Annie said, "Why not?" The lady said, "It's because you are not wearing flair for Pininator. I am not authorized to give you a job if you don't wear any flair." Jake said, "Does this mean we are exempt from doing jobs for today?" The lady said, "No. You are required to get a job everyday." Annie said, "Ok. Then where can we get flair?" The job lady said, "I am not supposed to tell you that." The job lady kicks Annie and Jake out of the job center. Annie said, "Who would have guessed that someone can be defiant by going about their daily lives?" Jake said, "Yeah. I wonder who this Pininator is. I've never heard of him before." Annie said, "He sounds like something the mayor made up to scare us for another one of his schemes." Jake said, "Yeah. Like the scheme where he told us there were diseases going around the town which were fake."

Annie and Jake go back to their residence and they see the Pininator there. He is a short round bodied guy with long and thin arms and legs and he dresses in purple with an upside down triangle on his upper body. His face is black and is mostly hidden by his tall and large hat that looks just like the ones on the pins and the ones some people were wearing. His wide white eyes peak through the darkness of his obscured face. He said, "Annie and Jake. It seems unfortunate you decided not to honor the greatest hero in the town where you reside." Annie said, "We didn't even know you existed." Jake said, "If you have just given us some flair, we would have worn it to honor you but no one ever gave us anything." Annie said, "What did you do for this crazy town anyways? Usually people do things like this to honor heroes and people that protect the freedom we have everyday. Since when did we have any of that in this crazy town?" The Pininator raises his arm and points to Annie and Jake and said, "That's enough. I've had enough of you. Your defiance shall not go without consequences.” He stretches his overly long arms at Annie and Jake. They attempt to run away but they are brought towards the Pininator and they are captured by him. Annie and Jake find themselves on stage where they have Pininator hats where they are mind-controlled by the hats. They end up dancing on stage in some kind of musical about the Pininator.

Tabitha presents this story with high hopes to the writing firm’s administrators and they look aggravated with the new story. The lead admin said, “I don’t think you get what we were asking you. We told you not to write anymore stories with confusing and messed up things. How is this story any different?” Tabitha said, “Well, every series is supposed to have an identity that sets it apart from anything else. Odyssey of Oddities has an identity that emphasizes on strange and bizarre things that someone can encounter in their daily life. I have read about workplaces and schools that randomly force kids to wear pins or buttons to honor someone they know nothing about and had little to no impact on their lives.” The admins nod their heads and the lead admin said, “I have never heard of such a thing. You keep saying you want your stories to be relatable and entertaining but so far, everything you have given to us is quite subpar and is not at the expectations our firm expects. It is not entertaining and it is not relatable.” Tabitha said, “Well, I know for a fact there are communities of people that like eye-catching bizarre stories. A lot of them live in Japan.” The lead admin said, “Well, we are not in Japan. We are in America. In America, we have higher standards than this kind of nonsense. I think even Japan would hesitate to consider the content you’ve conceived. The kids’ TV channels wouldn’t even accept anything like this.” Tabitha said, “You don’t understand. This isn’t just some stupid show. This is real. These kinds of things actually happen in a place not far from here.” Tabitha begins to get dramatic with her arms and adds more emphasis, “IT IS REAL!!! IT IS FULLY THE TRUTH!!!” She begins to flail her arms around like a maniac. The admins look at her like she has gone mad. They call the police on her and they come and pin her down and tase her and arrest her.

A judge goes over Tabitha’s case in a court of law and she said, “Ms. Tabitha. It seems you are... how do I put this... unstable and may be a threat to society. I have here all the stories of this place you write about called, ‘Crazy Town’ in this series you write about called, Odyssey of Oddities. I think we’ve found a place that is better suited for someone of your type. Society will be safe and you can continue to be the mad woman you are.”

Tabitha is brought into crazy town where she is given a small residence cubical and she has a bed and almost nothing else. She just has a desk there and she places the one and only thing she has brought from her past life into the new life she has in crazy town, her typewriter. She sets it up and begins to write a new story into it.

Annie and Jake are walking down the streets of crazy town at high noon and Annie said, “Things in this town have really been getting more stranger lately.” Jake said, “We know way too well that this place is strange. When is it ever something else?” Annie said, “It seems we keep falling into some predicaments like getting turned into green lizard men or being forced to wear buttons to honor a hero we’ve never heard of and now, we are just suddenly back to the normal streets like nothing happened.” Jake said, “That sounds like the kinds of things that would happen in those cartoons I used to watch before I got locked up in this joint.”

Annie and Jake walk past a Japanese restaurant and they see two chefs working in there. One of the chefs suddenly chokes on something and the larger chef grabs onto him and starts squeezing his body. The choking chef says, "Thug." He gets squeezed again and he says, "Thug." Annie and Jake watch this madness and the choking chef turns purple and he falls to the floor. The larger chef points to Annie and Jake and he said, "You two. You take over for my lazy fellow that choke his way through everything." The large chef grabs onto Annie and Jake and he puts them in chef suits and he brings them to a dead pig that is hanging in the back of the restaurant. The large chef said, "You, hit pig. You keep hitting piggy pig until it nice and tender." The large chef walks away. Jake starts punching the pig and he said, "This pig is hard like uranium." Annie said, "Don't punch the pig. We don't work here. That chef is just another one of the crazies in this town that tried to recruit us for this job. There's a back door. Let's get out of here."

Annie and Jake leave the restaurant and they are on a street facing the park. They see Tabitha with her typewriter sitting on one of the benches. She spots Annie and Jake and she smiles with malicious intent. She types away at her typewriter. An ice cream truck comes out of nowhere and it almost hits Jake and Annie pulls him away from it and saves his life. The ice cream truck crashes into one of the buildings and feathers and ice cream come flying out the back of it. Jake said, "Why would an ice cream man try to kill me?" Annie said, "And why is his truck loaded with feathers?" They see a tall thin clown come out of the truck and he raises a fist at Jake and he said, "You! You costed me my career. If your mom never found out about that cockroach in your snow cone, I never would have been fined and demoted..." Tabitha is laughing her head off at the mayhem. She types, "A giant ball of mud comes rolling and squishes the ice cream man." That very thing happens and Annie and Jake jump and dodge the rolling boulder of mud.

Annie and Jake walk into the park and Jake said, "You're right. Things keep getting stranger and stranger." They see more weirdos in the park and Isaac and Wayon run up to them. Isaac is having difficulty keeping his gut inside himself as he says, "You almost got fricking killed by an ice cream truck. How ridiculous is that?" Annie said, "That's nothing to laugh about." Isaac said, "Well, it sure as hell was pretty funny." Annie sees Tabitha has her head into her paper and some of it is rolling off the edge of the typewriter so it can be read by people that get close by. Annie sees it has text that reads, "Annie and Jake stroll through the chaotic park only for them to get pestered by their rivals, Isaac and Wayon." Annie said, "Hey." She walks up to Tabitha and she pulls the paper out of her typewriter and she reads everything Tabitha has written. It says that Annie and Jake were forced to work in a Japanese restaurant, Jake almost gets killed by an ice cream truck, the driver gets crushed by a mud boulder, and they go to the park where they get pestered by Isaac and Wayon." Annie said, "You've been writing everything that has happened to us." Jake said, "Are you some kind of stalker or something?" Tabitha said, "I am the writer and author of your existence. Everything I write, occurs in your world." Annie said, "So it was you that have been writing these strange things we've encountered." Tabitha said, "I have." Jake said, "You must be the real reason why we are stuck in this crazy town." Tabitha said, "I am and then some. I'm also responsible for why you sound like Mickey Mouse. I did that so no one would take you seriously." Jake gets enraged and he said, "Why you!" He tries to jump at Tabitha and he tries to grab the typewriter from her. Tabitha runs away and Annie, Jake, Isaac, and Wayon run after her.

Annie and Jake chase Tabitha through the park and they get slowed down by crowds of weirdos that Tabitha writes into her typewriter as she is running away from Annie and Jake. They follow her into a random building where they enter a stairwell and they continue to chase her up the stairs. Annie and Jake get close to her and they are right below Tabitha.

Annie grabs onto her leg and she kicks Annie in the face. Jake grabs onto the typewriter and he begins typing random slop into it. Isaac and Wayon join in on the fight and they all grab the typewriter and they start tugging on it. Jake gets to the keyboard again and he types more stuff and Tabitha slaps off his hand. Wayon reaches his long arms on the keyboard and he keeps typing stuff in it and it gets jammed and now Tabitha's page is loaded with nonsense.

The typewriter is dropped and Annie, Jake, Isaac, Wayon, and Tabitha end up in a black world with dark purple streams flowing through the background. Random frames fly around and they show different versions of things that happened in Annie and Jake's adventures. Jake said, "What just happened?" Annie said, "Wayon must have written something into the typewriter. It most certainly was some kind of nonsense." Wayon said, "A banging I have done and a hanging will be won." They come across a large cloaked figure with a cartoony skull for a head. He said, "Annie and Jake. You have come. I didn't think you would ever find out about me." Annie said, "Who are you and what is this place?" The cloaked skull said, "I am the Master of Revisions." Jake said, "Master of Revisions?" Master of Revisions said, "I oversee everything that gets written for you. Your entire life is nothing but a script that is constantly being written and revised by a writer." Jake said, "And that writer was Tabitha over here." Master of Revisions said, "There's an infinite number of possible ways your adventures could have played out. Here is an alternate scene from your Christmas in July adventure." He takes a frame and he shows it to the five people in front of him. It shows Annie getting a lump of coal and Jake getting a pack of tighty whities from the mayor dressed as Santa Claus. Santa Mayor says to Jake, "Your girlfriend is going to love seeing you in those." A different looking version of Lily with black hair, a black dress, and a wider flatter head with black hair appears and she said, "Oooh. I like looking at Jake in his tighty whities." Annie in the frame and Annie in real life both face palm as if they are perfectly coordinated.

The Master of Revisions said, "There are many more like this." He grabs several still frames and he narrates them, "There's Annie becoming a parasite in the abandoned grocery store, The mayor never getting charged for making a bootleg Starchest flick, and Jake being the hero against the Virtualizer rather than Lily." Now that you have found my existence and learned the truth about how your lives are written, you may never return to your existence. You are to serve the rest of your eternity in this realm I call, The Realm of Revisions. You will be working for me as a slave. You will all get typewriters and you will be making the revisions to scripts I will be giving you. All the instructions are laid out in these documents." He hands documents to, Annie, Jake, Isaac, and Wayon.

The four of them are guided by the Master of Revisions to the office work room where they will be working. They see unused alternate designs of themselves working away at the typewriters. The Master of Revisions shows them to a girl that looks similar to Annie but has a bigger head and has blonde hair. She even dresses similar to Annie. Master of Revisions said, "This is Jean. She was intended to be a character in your series but she got rejected in the very early days before your series entered production. She will be assisting you as she was intended to do in your original draft. I am off now." The Master of Revisions leaves them all together and Jean said, "Hello. I'm Jean. I know you're just different versions of Annie and Jake. I already met fifty variants of you. Well, get seated at a typewriter and start writing." They get seated next to different versions of themselves. Annie and Jake are seated next to a different Annie and Jake. This Annie wears a green knitted sweater with purple diamonds on it and has a white buttoned up shirt underneath. This version of Jake wears a less imaginative plain light blue long sleeved shirt and blue pants.

Annie said, "So, how long have you two been here?" Alternate Annie said, "We don't know. Time doesn't really exist here." Annie said, "How did I not see that coming?" Jake sees an alternate Lily that has that same design he saw in the alternate Christmas episode. She waves to him and blows him a kiss. Isaac and Wayon hammer away at their typewriters and they look like they are having the time of their lives. Annie pans her head around the working room and she sees Tabitha is nowhere to be found. Annie said, "Have any of you seen where Tabitha went?" Jake said, "I think I saw her with the Master of Revisions. She was next to him and she left with him." Annie puts her hand to her chin and she said, "I think I'm on to something."

Annie spots a vent on the ceiling. Annie said, "We could probably escape from this place if we pile together and form a tower." Jean said, "That would be bad. If the Master of Revisions found out about that, he would kill us and it would be as if we never existed." Annie said, "Well, that's not much different from being his slaves." Jake said, "Yeah. It is more noble to die a hero than it is to live as a slave for eternity." Alternate Annie said, "That other Jake is making sense." Annie said, "C'mon Jean. Do you really want to live in this place forever?" Jean said, "Well, this place is all I've ever known. All the unused drafts of characters end up here and I got eliminated pretty early on." Annie said, "No one knew about you before and you were a meaningless character before. If you help us, you will no longer be a meaningless character." Jean thinks and said, "I guess."

The alternate characters help Annie and Jake up to the vent. Annie undoes the vent cover and she and Jake jump up in there and they crawl through the vent. They find the part of the vent that leads to the section the Master of Revisions stays at. Annie and Jake find him. They see Tabitha is getting close and personal with him. Tabitha said, "My long time plan has finally worked. Me writing the idea for a Realm of Revisions run by the Master of Revisions has finally transcended beyond my wildest dreams. Now, I can rule over all these peasants we have writing the continuity for us. All those drafts will rewrite it so that I will be considered the greatest writer ever and anyone that thinks otherwise will be sent to this realm as a slave for eternity." The Master of Revisions said, "That's the greatest idea ever." They both take their drinks.

Annie and Jake reunite with the other unused draft characters and Annie said, "This is more bizarre than we thought. We are all just pawns in an ultimate plot from Tabitha to become the greatest writer ever." Jake said, "This place is just a punishment for people that don't think she is a good writer." Annie said, "There is a greater quantity of us than there are of Tabitha. We can overpower her." Isaac said, "But wouldn't you want to work here for eternity? Isn't it fun to rewrite stuff so it turns out better than what was intended?" Annie said, "Yeah, but you are not really writing what is best. You are writing what someone else thinks is best. That someone else is Tabitha and she clearly doesn't know what's best. I say we go against her." Jake said, "Wayon may be useless but that unused version of him may be more helpful." Jake points to an unused design of Wayon that is dark yellow and is covered with wrinkles, wears a blue Hawaiian shirt, and has white hairs on his head. He also has a green soda can in his hand. Annie goes up to him and said, "You just need to break down the doors for us.” Alternate Wayon said, “Hmm, that sounds hard. I don’t really want to do that. I like that I can just write for a new soda to appear in my hand whenever I want.” The crowd behind Annie and Jake of unused Annie and Jakes pick up Alternate Wayon and they use him as a batting ram to break down the door. The unused drafts run free. Annie stops the Alternate Annie and Jake and she said, “I have an idea.”

The unused rejects break into the Master of Revisions’ office where Tabitha lies at his side. Alternate Annie points to her and said, “We know your plan. We know that Tabitha created all this because she is nothing but a narcissist and a fool that wants people to think her subpar writing is decent but it isn’t.” Master of Revisions recognizes her as being the Annie he has known for years that worked with him on the revisions. He said, “Annie. You have worked for me for years and things have always been good. I think that other Annie we recently brought in to this place has been getting to you. You should just know that the other Annie lived in crazy town for years and being around crazy people for long periods of time will make you into one of them.” The Annie we normally see in the series is sneaking behind Tabitha and the Master of Revisions and she grabs the typewriter and tries to run away with it. Tabitha gets into combat with the Annie trying to steal the typewriter. All the rejects jump in and they start to fight against Tabitha and they overpower her. The Master of Revisions said, “There is one way to end this chaos.” He channels magical lightning powers and he zaps several of the rejects into dust. The two Annies we’ve already met are running away with the typewriter.

The Annies run into an enclosed space with the Jakes and they take out the typewriter and they are about to type into it and they hesitate. Alternate Annie said, “This is Tabitha’s typewriter. This one is the master of all the typewriters. This is not just those simple revision typewriters we were given. This thing can change the course of continuity for all of us.” Annie said, “What are you getting at here?” Alternate Annie said, “We can write crazy town out of existence and we can write it so that we got to live the lives we were supposed to live if crazy town never came to be.” Annie said, “That’s a great idea. We should do that.” They begin hammering away at the typewriter and the door barges open and they see the Master of Revisions is there with Isaac and Wayon. Master of Revisions said, “I guessed you would come up with some kind of coup. Isaac and Wayon have been very obedient by telling me what your entire plan was. They get first dibs on the typewriter. That is after I kill you.” Jean said, “No you won’t.” Jean goes against the Master of Revisions and she said, “I’ve been your puppet for longer than I remember. It is about time you suffer the consequences of your own actions.” The Master of Revisions said, “I guess Annie’s influence was inserted into your peanut-sized mind too.” The Annies type frantically at the typewriter while Isaac and Wayon go to fight them off. The Jakes and Jean fight against the Master of Revisions.

Isaac gets a grip on the typewriter and he writes his slop into it where he is a grand king and ruler. Annie grabs it and undoes it. Annie writes that the Master of Revisions is going to get killed off by the different Jakes and Jean. Isaac and Wayon frantically rewrite that. The Master of Revisions said, “I know what this is. I guess I have no other choice.” He goes into overdrive mode and he charges an electric blast and it vaporizes the Alternate Jake and Jean. All that is left now is the two Annies and Alternate Jake against Isaac, Wayon, and the Master of Revisions.

Annie raises a fist and said, "As long as this powerful mighty typewriter exists, there is a chance our continuity can be rewritten." The Master of Revisions said, "I am far more powerful than you. I can see that this revision gets stored and protected." He charges a blast at Annie and Jake and they explode into dust and particles. The Alternate Annie is standing next to her and the dust gets on her green knitted sweater. The Master of Revisions said, "I only killed the bad Annie and Jake and left the ones that have been loyal to me survive. I know the recent events are the things that have caused you to turn against me. Now that the bad influencers are dead, your infinite lives will continue as they were before." Alternate Annie said, "That's what you think. The jokes on you. We've switched places with our alternate selves." Jake said, "Yeah." The Master of Revisions said, "You!!!" He is about to charge a blast at Annie and Jake and Alternate Lily jumps from behind him and gives him a pretty harsh beating. Lily said, "No one threatens my lovely Jake and lives to speak of it afterwards." Master of Revisions continues to blast at Annie and Jake while they continue to write things into the typewriter. Jake said, "We can write to end this all." Lily is struggling to hold back the Master of Revisions and she gets killed into particles of dust." Annie said, "We don't have time for that." Annie just writes for the Master of Revisions, Tabitha, and the Master Typewriter to have never existed. She presses enter and the entire world shatters like glass and Annie and Jake appear in the middle of crazy town again.

Annie and Jake see they are back in crazy town and everything looks normal again. They see Lily and she looks as she always had and she said, "Hi Jake. Do you want to play with the Larry and Larryette dolls again?" Jake looks overjoyed to have everything back to normal and he said, "Sure."

Annie uses a computer she has in her residence and it looks as if it was never destroyed. She looks through the computer database she hacked into that has information for every known citizen in crazy town. Tabitha is not in any of those records. Annie looks up Tabitha online and there is no reference or mention of her anywhere. She looks up the Master of Revisions and he comes up as a fictional comic book character that appears in comics published by HG Comics. Annie said, "Some people are not that imaginative at all. They just copy what they read about in the comics."

Happy 10 Year Annie-Versary Odyssey of Oddities 2016-2026